IV. Variations

J. D. Plant is an international concert organist, conductor, vocalist, country music composer and musical arranger. After a period of thirty years as music director at various churches in Montreal, Canada, and New York City, Mr. Plant moved to Nashville, Tennessee, where he is now the organist at the First United Methodist Church, Lebanon. He has returned to giving regular organ recitals in between composing country music and making demo recordings.

Mr. Plant obtained a Master's degree in Organ Performance from McGill University in Montreal, Canada. He won some competition prizes, most notably First Place at the 1993 John Robb Competition and Second Place at the 1996 Royal Canadian College of Organists National Competition. For a period of a few years after these competitions, Mr. Plant concertized extensively in the province of Quebec and the American northeast.

For several years, Mr. Plant sang professionally in New York City as soloist and in choral ensembles such as the Early Music Foundation, Metro Chamber Orchestra, and the National Chorale at Lincoln Center.
